Campus life

Discover why our student experience is voted best in Australia.

Campus life at the University of Sydney is a unique and unforgettable experience.

We have a packed calendar of events and celebrations for you to enjoy. With more than 200 student clubs and societies, 43 sports clubs, 4 live performance spaces, 2 fitness centres, 12 cafés, and 8 bars on campus, there's something for everyone.

– sydney.edu.au/campus-life

The University of Sydney Union (USU)

A student led, not-for-profit organisation that invests all funds back into the student experience and host many activities on campus. The USU runs many clubs and societies and supports student initiatives on and off campus.

– youtube.com/USUonline

Interdisciplinary Industry and Community Project Units (ICPU)

The University partners with over 45 leading organisations (including Accenture, AGL, City Recital Hall, QBE and Westpac) to offer students the opportunity to work on real world projects and engage with major industry, government and community partners.

Students work in interdisciplinary groups, in collaboration with their industry partner and academic lead. Groups present their projects to the industry partner at the end of the semester.

Social program

Once you arrive at the University of Sydney, the Sydney Abroad team are here to answer your questions and welcome you to our campus community. We offer a wide range of services to help you make the most of your time here and develop skills and strategies to enjoy university life to the fullest.

Welcome Week

Welcome Week is an action packed opportunity to dive into the social and academic experiences of campus life. Join clubs & societies, attend welcome events, and enjoy a variety of entertainment. Sydney Abroad welcome starts with Intro to Sydney sessions two weeks prior to semester. The official welcome and enrolment advising events take place during the week before classes begin.

– sydney.edu.au/orientation

Mates Abroad

Each semester, hundreds of study abroad students are paired with like-minded, enthusiastic local student mentors to ease their transition to Sydney life, create new friendships, and embark on exciting adventures together. Every study abroad student is invited to participate in this program, via email, at the beginning of their semester abroad.

– facebook.com/groups/matesabroad

Socials

Throughout the semester, we run social events such as a Sydney harbour cruise, breakfast with koalas, Aussie football game & surf camp. The USU also runs a Welcome Week Festival before each semester (the largest event of its kind in Australia).

Our researchers and teachers

The passion and brilliance of our academics ensure we remain one of the world's top research universities.

As a member of Australia's prestigious Group of Eight network, we are among the best universities in the world. You'll have the opportunity to learn from our inspiring academics who pursue research excellence with the latest innovative technology. It is due to the outstanding calibre of their work that we continue to rank among the top teaching and research universities in the world. Our teachers are leaders in their field and offer progressive curriculum that is consistently fuelled by new research.

What sets the University of Sydney apart?

Exceptional facilities, an innovative edge and the drive to challenge traditional ways of thinking. Our students have the opportunity to be part of this: contributing to research that pushes the boundaries and makes a meaningful, real-world impact.

“You could see the quality of the equipment you used, the events they organised, how empathetic the study abroad team is and how good the lessons are. I enjoyed ‘Data Science: Big Data and Data Diversity’ (DATA2001) because teaching staff were friendly and the projects were super fun to be involved with”

Fernando
Universidad Carlos III de Madrid,
Spain

“I work with study abroad students, introducing them to the benefits of experiential learning through unique field trips into some of Australia's World Heritage listed National Parks. Through this work, I have developed a strong passion for creating transformative learning experiences in wilderness settings, and helping my students to maximise their learning to benefit their future profession and personal life.”

Dr Wayne Cotton
Associate Dean, Teacher Education, School of Education and Social Work

“Tasmanian devils are endangered due to a contagious cancer, a tumour that is passed from animal to animal when they bite each other. My team and I in the School of Life and Environmental Sciences work on the genetics of Tasmanian devils and their tumours. Our research has shown how the tumour is able to evade the immune system and we are introducing new genetic diversity into wild devil populations.”

Professor Katherine Belov
Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Global Engagement)
Professor of Comparative Genetics

How to search for a unit of study

We have more than 2500 units of study available. We’ve made the search easier for you by creating units of study (subject) lists to help you find subjects and syllabi. From discipline specific to thematic lists, you can easily navigate our units of study*, using this handy tool.

Step 1

You can use our unit tools to find your desired options:

- sydney.edu.au/sydney-abroad-units

Step 2

Select your preferred list: Master, Thematic or Department. This will take you to a current unit list.

Step 3

Where a unit name piques your interest, follow the link for more information, and it will take you to the unit’s course information page and syllabus.

* A unit of study is a term we use for a subject or class.

“Studying in Australia has significantly broadened my knowledge and understanding of agriculture beyond the challenges farmers face in the UK. It has allowed me to develop my understanding of the diversity of global food production while also allowing me to appreciate the difficulties many farmers in Australia face”

Ed
University of Nottingham, UK

Semester programs

We have many options available for both undergraduate and postgraduate students wishing to study at Sydney. Students coming for semester 1 or 2 need to enrol in a full time load of 18-24 credit points.

Study Abroad

Every year, we welcome hundreds of students who participate in one of our study abroad programs. Some come for our academic reputation and wide range of courses, while others come to experience our vibrant student life bolstered by our guaranteed accommodation and unique Internship program. Students can come for 1 or 2 semesters and tuition fees apply.

2023 Study Abroad tuition*
$12,600 AUD for 24 credit points
$9450 AUD for 18 credit points

– sydney.edu.au/inbound-programs

* Most units are worth 6 credit points and students must have permission from their home institution for 18 credit point study load

Exchange

We have exchange programs with more than 200 partner universities in over 40 countries. If you're enrolled at one of our international partner universities, you may be eligible to apply for exchange. When you come as an exchange student, your tuition fees are paid to your home university while you study at Sydney.

If your home university has a partnership with us, you first need to apply to your home university's international exchange program.

You will need to be nominated by your home university before applying to the University of Sydney. Once your nomination is confirmed, we welcome you to follow the steps on how to apply.

Consult our Global Mobility Database to find out if your home university is one of our exchange partners.

Special programs

Short term

Each unit of study is taught in an intensive format while maintaining credit point values and academic integrity. Most unit of study options are taught alongside full-degree students and provide hands-on experiential learning in an Australian cultural context. Students can enrol in either 1 or 2 units of study

Short term fees

1 unit of study $3150 AUD
2 units of study $6300 AUD

– sydney.edu.au/inbound-programs-short-term

Gap and first year students

For those just finishing secondary school or in their first year of university study, this program is an excellent way to earn credit at the University of Sydney. With over 180 semester-long units of study with no pre-requisites or assumed knowledge, you're spoilt for choice. Gap and first year applicants are assessed on their secondary qualification and need to meet our English language entry requirements.

– sydney.edu.au/inbound-programs-gap-first-year

“The University of Sydney short term study abroad program is the perfect way to experience a new country and explore Sydney. The staff are very friendly and the opportunity to take a class and have an internship is the perfect combination for a summer trip.”

Rachel Kipper
Kansas State University, USA

Spring friendly semester

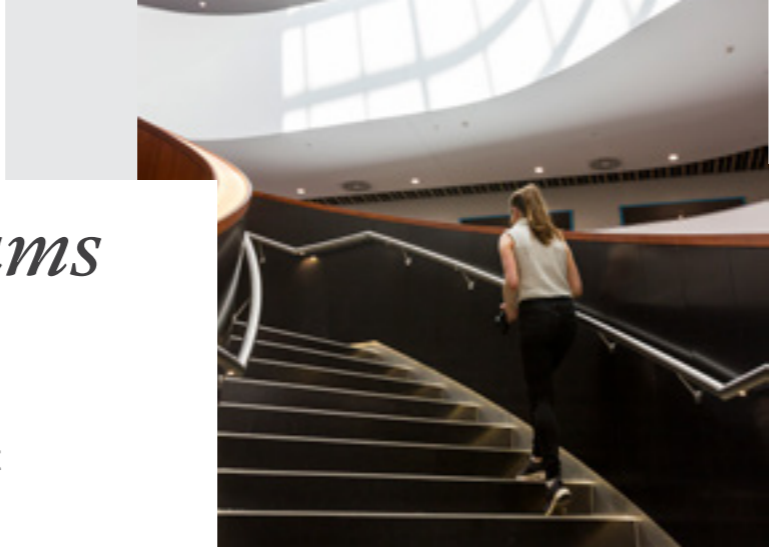

This program aligns with the northern hemisphere Spring semester, allowing students to study a full semester worth of credit and return home in time for summer internships. Spring friendly students choose 1 unit of study from our Summer session (Jan or Feb) and 3 units from Semester 1.

– sydney.edu.au/inbound-programs-spring-friendly

Internships programs

Combining your study abroad experience with an international internship can help you stand out in a competitive job market.

Complement your academic study with relevant industry or research experience via our internship program. Interns complete a minimum of 120 hours in an industry or research placement with one of our many partners or academics. The Internship unit of study is worth 6 credit points, and is taken alongside your other units of study.

“My internship in events at The Cancer Council through the University of Sydney helped me realize my interests in healthcare communications, marketing, and events, and set me up well for my job search after college. Last year I started a post-grad role in marketing at Real Chemistry, a global health communications agency based in San Francisco.”

Sydney Shaiman, Washington University at St Louis

There are four intakes:

Summer	January-February (6 weeks)
Semester 1	February-June (13 weeks)
Short Term A	June-July (7 weeks)
Semester 2	August-November (13 weeks)

Parallel to your work or research placement are four professional development workshops, academic reading and a range of assessments, including a final project report.

Placement is competitive and based on key performance indicators such as GPA, prior academic studies, as well as the interests of the applicant and host. Though every effort is made to place all eligible applicants, placement is not guaranteed

For more information on types of internships, eligibility and how to apply, please visit our website.

“Meeting people from all around the world in a beautiful country and city. The best class I took was one of the electives (Outdoor Education) and it was an amazing experience! Being able to go on a field trip to the Royal National Park and camp in the Blue Mountains for a class was an opportunity I’ve never had before and I was actually sad when the class was over. Our instructor was also an incredibly kind and passionate teacher, which made the experience even better.”

Sydney Sustainability Program

Climate change is one of the biggest challenges facing the next generation, and something that current students will need to have strong literacy of as they enter the workplace of tomorrow.

This co-curricular program can be taken alongside our study abroad programs where students can undertake exclusive activities and a speaker series structured around five of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDG), with completion resulting in a Digital Badge.

- Academic credit (optional): when choosing units to study at USYD, pick from our list of Sustainability & Environment list to contribute to the Sustainability Program.
- Digital badge: completing our SDG tasks will result in a certified Sydney Sustainability Program digital badge, which can be displayed on LinkedIn.
- Exclusive workshops: you will have access to a series of workshops on sustainability, climate action & how to convey your climate literacy as you enter the work force.
- Volunteering (optional): undertake additional volunteering opportunities to boost points and receive access to prizes,

How to apply

Step 1: Check if your home university has a partnership with the University of Sydney

If they do, you need to contact your home university. They will then contact us to nominate you.

– sydney.edu.au/study/overseas-programs

Step 2: Search Study Abroad or Exchange, and find your course

Your course will differ depending upon your nomination, program (Study Abroad or Exchange), level of study (undergraduate or postgraduate), and duration (one or two semesters). For Short term programs, please use the Undergraduate Study Abroad Program (One Semester) course:

– sydney.edu.au/courses

Step 3: Access your online application

Click Apply on the course page to start your application. You can save and return to it later.

Step 4: Submit your application

You should include:

- Your current transcript
- Evidence you have met our English entry requirements
- Evidence of Identity
- Your unit of study preferences

Step 5: Your offer letter

Your application will be assessed and if successful, you will receive your offer letter via email.

Step 6: Accept your offer, and if applicable, pay your tuition and OSHC

Log in to your Sydney Student and respond to your offer. If applicable, you need to pay your tuition, deposit and/or overseas student health cover (OSHC).

Step 7: Receive your Confirmation of Enrolment (CoE)

You need your CoE for your visa application.

Step 8: Confirm your visa and start planning your travel to Sydney!

Ensure you arrive before Orientation.

Eligibility criteria

Before you apply, please make sure that you understand our eligibility criteria.

- Nomination from your home university if they are an exchange partner of the University of Sydney
- You need to have achieved a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 on a 4.0 point scale, or an average grade of 'C' or better on the European ECTS grading scale (or equivalent)
- Meet the English entry requirements as outlined on the website.
- sydney.edu.au/study/english-reqs

Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC)

Health insurance is compulsory for most international students who are studying in Australia. It is a condition of your student visa that you maintain Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC) for the duration of your studies in Australia. This cover needs to be arranged before you can apply for your student visa.

For more information on how to arrange your health cover, visit the website.

Guaranteed accommodation

Choosing where to live will be one of the biggest decisions you'll make after deciding to study in Australia. We provide peace of mind in finding a place to live by offering our students guaranteed accommodation in student accommodation buildings within a 15 minute walk to campus and located on the doorstep of downtown Sydney.

We have negotiated a special 20-week contract rate and length for Study Abroad and Exchange students at most of our preferred properties. Contracts start the week before Orientation and finish the week after the final exam period, meaning students don't pay for additional weeks they won't use. Your study abroad adviser will provide more information on how to apply for guaranteed accommodation once you accept your offer.

View of downtown Sydney, from the Queen Mary Building accommodation.

There are a number of accommodation options as part of our guaranteed offer to study abroad and exchange students, including:

- University residences
- residential colleges
- independently-run student housing

Our Accommodation Services website is a great place to get started. You will find helpful advice on where to live, costs, and other accommodation information.
