STATEMENT OF UNDERSTANDING

I, the undersigned, understand and accept the following conditions which apply when traveling on an Independent Study Abroad activity through direct enrolment, as evidenced by my signature below:

1. It is the student's responsibility to apply for admission to the host university.
2. The student must complete and submit all documentation required by the host university, directly to the host university, by the stated deadlines.
3. The student must not be on academic probation (or a candidate for academic probation); and must otherwise maintain good academic standing in the Faculty of Law at Queen's University until the commencement of the study abroad activity.
4. Students participating in study abroad activities are bound by the terms of the Queen's University Student Code of Conduct prior to, during, and following the study period. In the event that the student violates the Student Code of Conduct, permission to participate in the study abroad activity may be revoked.
5. Students participating in study abroad activities are also subject to the rules and regulations of the Host University and laws of the host country. Students are required to stay at the host campus until the completion of all courses and the associated examination period.
6. In the event that the student lodges an appeal of a decision relating to either non-academic or academic matters, the appeal must be resolved prior to the expected date of departure or permission to participate in the study abroad activity will be rescinded.
7. Students are required to complete the mandatory upper-year courses (Law 225 Civil Procedure, Law 440 Business Associations and Law 334 Legal Ethics and Professionalism), the Practice Skills Requirement, the Advocacy Requirement at Queen's and the Substantial Term Paper at Queen's Law.
8. Tuition and ancillary fees are to be paid to the host university, in accordance with the host university requirements. Students may be required to pay additional fees (other than tuition), such as mandatory health insurance, activity fees, etc. to the host university.
9. Students are responsible for all personal expenses, including transportation, medical insurance, food and accommodation at the host university. It is the responsibility of the student to secure their own accommodations.
10. Students participating in an independent study abroad activity must register at the host university as a Visiting Student rather than as a student on a degree program. Students who register in a degree program will jeopardize their registration status at Queen's University.
11. Students are responsible for obtaining the necessary immigration documentation as required. Please note that it may take several months to obtain such documentation.

12. Students are responsible for ensuring that appropriate and sufficient health insurance is obtained to cover the period of time while on the study abroad activity and while travelling to and from the host country. Specific requirements apply at some host institutions.
13. Courses selected at the host university must be approved by the Assistant Dean, JD Program, as delegate of the Academic Standing and Policies Committee at Queen's Faculty of Law. If changes are made to these course selections after arriving at the host university, the student must notify the Director, Student and Academic Services at Queen's Faculty of Law, of these changes and obtain approval for them. Participation in an independent study abroad does not guarantee enrolment in desired courses at the host university.
14. Transfer of credit for academic work completed while on an independent study abroad activity will be granted only for courses approved by the Director, Student and Academic Services at Queen's Faculty of Law in advance of the host institution's course registration period using the Learning Agreement Form. Courses will not be approved if they overlap substantially with coursework already completed at Queen's or elsewhere. Credit will be given only for Queen's-approved courses successfully completed at the host university. To transfer credit to Queen's for courses taken at the host university, a student must obtain a passing final grade in each course according to the grading standards at the host law school.
15. Students must arrange for an official transcript (bearing the official university seal) to be forwarded directly from the host university to the attention of the Director, Student and Academic Services, Student Services Office, Room 200, 128 Union St. Kingston ON K7L 3N6. It is also the student's responsibility to obtain any additional transcripts from the host university needed for personal use. It is prudent to obtain a sufficient number of original transcripts for future employment, licensing, and graduate studies applications.
16. Independent study abroad falls under Queen's University's Off-Campus Activity Safety Policy \(OCASP\). Each ILOP student must complete the OCASP Safety Planning Record (SPR) process from completion of the record through to approval, and must register with the Emergency Support Program (ESP) prior to the expected date of departure. If the student does not complete all these mandatory preparations prior to departure, the Safety Plan Record will not be approved and the ILOP will be revoked.
17. In the event that the Canadian Global Affairs Department issues a travel warning advising against travel to the location or region of the host university following the issuance of the ILOP by Queen's, but prior to the student's departure to the host university, the ILOP will be rescinded. In this circumstance, to seek an exception the student must apply in writing, giving reasons for the request and documenting how the hazards identified in the DFTD warning can be mitigated. The ILOP will not be reinstated unless the student is able to demonstrate to the satisfaction of Queen's University Safety Office that the hazards identified in the travel advisory can be mitigated appropriately. See also <http://travel.gc.ca/travelling/advisories/faq>.

18. In the event that Canadian government issues a travel warning advising against travel to or visits within the location or region of the intended host university after the student's departure, under the OCASP the student is required to revise the OCASP Safety Planning Record (SPR) to reflect the new circumstances, and resubmit it to Queen's Safety Office for review and approval. If the new hazards cannot be mitigated appropriately, Queen's University may require the student to leave the area of risk. Failure to revise and resubmit the SPR and to cooperate with Queen's University in managing the student's risk may result in the student not being granted academic credit from Queen's for the affected term of study.
19. It is the student's responsibility to decide whether to purchase travel cancellation insurance. Cancellation insurance may provide coverage in the event that travel plans are altered because of circumstances that lead to the issuance of a Travel Warning by the Canadian government.

I have reviewed the terms and conditions of international letters of permission. My signature below evidences that I have read, understood and agree to the terms and conditions.
